

Harmony Works will repurpose Castlegate's Canada House into the new home for the Sheffield Music hub and Sheffield Music Academy. Evans Vettori Architects have been working on a design of inspiring performance, rehearsal and tuition spaces that will breathe new life into the grand grade II listed building.

The music hub moves between schools across Sheffield and spends a majority of their time converting school rooms into tuition spaces. With a dedicated home for tuition/performance, this valuable time can now be spent engaging with students.

A majority of the hub/academy sites are currently primarily based in the more affluent areas of south Sheffield. A city centre location will make music more accessible for people from all backgrounds.

50% of tutors travel over 50 miles to teach at the Sheffield Music Academy. Canada House's excellent connection to transport links will enable tutors from all over the country to teach at Harmony Works.

Castlegate is an emerging area of Sheffield, with growing community of arts venues. Harmony Works has the opportunity to slot into this regeneration and provide a valuable community hub.
